LANDSCAPING & EXCAVATION

May 22, 2013

Hi Al,

Just thought I would drop you a note and tell you how happy I am with my screener. It not only produces material the way I expected but it also runs all day on what seems to be a cup or so of fuel.

This spring when I needed to make soil I have to say I'm impressed with how it worked with wet and frozen material. Some of the frozen lumps were like two feet in size and did not interrupt production or cause any extra strain or stress to the machine. All those tailings will be reprocessed later.

If any one out there needs that warm fuzzy feeling before they cut you a check for a machine feel free to have them call me. Oh ya - it works great in the gravel and stone as well. www.soilsandgravel.com

Have a great day.
